

Earthquake Terror

Characteristics of Narrative Nonfiction

A Narrative Nonfiction is a retelling of a true story in which a series of events come to life.

- It tells about real people, animals, places, or events
- It is told in story form
- It gives facts about the subject
- It usually describes events in chronological order
- It may include the author's opinions and feelings
- It may include photographs, captions, illustrations, and graphic aids to communicate information

